Art Unit: 1714

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Meador.

Meador discloses polymeric articles comprising polymers with iptycene repeat units (column 2; column 14, lines 3-17). These polymers are further taught as having many arene planes (column 2, lines 42-61) and as having benzene rings within the backbone. For the purposes of this rejection, the individual polymer molecules are seen as qualifying as particles within the definition of particles given by applicants.

Therefore the reference anticipates the rejected claims.

Claims 1-18, 44 and 46 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by WO '222.

WO '222 discloses iptycene-based homo- and co-polymers having chromophores and triple bonds in the backbone and devices incorporating these polymers (abstract, example 1 and Figure 28, e.g.). The reference further discloses polymeric structures with both ether and alkyl pendant groups (see pages 14 and 15) and polymers incorporating charged species (figure 25). Again, individual polymer molecules are seen as qualifying as particles within the definition of particles given by applicants.

Therefore the reference anticipates the rejected claims.

Claims 128 and 129 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Chen et al.

Chen et al disclose luminescent polymers used in sensor devices. These polymers are taught as sensitive to binding by nucleic acids (see claims).

Therefore the reference anticipates the rejected claims.
